From the desk of Father Koys
Dear Parishioners,

On this powerful feast of the Exaltation of the Cross, I wish to call attention to one of the most challenging scenes in the epic movie, The Passion of the Christ.

When Jesus is handed the heavy cross after being beaten and scourged to a bloody pulp, they show Jesus embracing the cross and giving the wood a simple little kiss. My faith tells me that Our Lord willingly accepted his death for our salvation but every fiber in my body cries out, "No, why is the Lord of Lords, the King of Kings, the author of life being sentenced to death." How is it possible to like the cross? Who likes suffering? Who enjoys pain? It borders on the metal illness we call "masochism".

This challenging contemplation of the love of the cross has been a stable topic of my spiritual mediation for most of my life. So, instead of many words, I share with you this image of one of my paintings. It's a rendition of a scene from the movie Jesus of Nazareth. It's Nicodemus after Jesus told him "Unless a man is reborn, he cannot enter the kingdom of heaven." I'm quite sure everyone of us would have been just as mystified by Our Lord's words as was he. The connection between being born again and accepting the crosses in our lives should be obvious. But alas, it is one of the hardest lessons to learn of all the lessons we are taught in our catechism. How do we die to ourselves? How do we say no to the many joys and blessings of this world so as to receive a higher live, a share in God's divine life? One of the lessons I learned as a child helps me understand this a bit. I recall being taught by our wonderful religious sisters, "Jesus could have saved the world by shedding only one drop of blood, but he chose to endure the crucifixion especially as a means of example." So, it isn't the intensity or the brutality of the suffering that makes Christ's death salvific, it has everything to do with "who" is accepting the cross. Parents often suffer for the sins of their children. Children rarely see such suffering as an act of love. Your dignity, who you are, is what sanctifies your offerings as well.

Fr Thomas Koys, M.A., S.T.L.

Michael Leading The School In Praying The Rosary

Dear Parents and Parishioners,

Two weeks ago, SSCM 8th grader Michael Bialas demonstrated both leadership and faith when he approached me with the idea of leading our school in praying the Rosary together after our First Friday Mass. Last Friday, he carried out that vision, guiding our entire student body in prayer and sharing the importance of coming together as a community of faith. Michael's initiative is a wonderful example of how our students can live out their discipleship by leading others in prayer and strengthening the spiritual life of our school. Each and every day at SSCM, our students recognize that God is present in their lives through one another.

During the Mass, the students also took part in our yearly tradition of the Faith Partner Blessing. All of our students are assigned an older student(s) to help lead and guide them in their spiritual path at our school. It is amazing to see the connection that grows between them throughout the year.

Please enjoy some pictures from our First Friday Mass. Have a blessed weekend.
Go Comets!!

Drodzy Parafianie,
*W tak doniosłe święto
Podwyższenia Krzyża pragnę
zwrócić uwagę na jedną
z najbardziej poruszających scen*

w epickim filmie Pasja. Gdy Jezus, po ubiczowaniu i skatowaniu do krwi, zostaje obarczony ciężkim krzyżem, pokazane jest, jak obejmuje go i składa na drewnie prosty pocałunek. Moja wiara mówi mi, że nasz Pan dobrowolnie przyjął śmierć dla naszego zbawienia, ale każda cząstka mojego ciała woła: „Nie! Dlaczego Pan Panów, Król Królów, Dawca życia zostaje skazany na śmierć?” Jak to możliwe, by kochać krzyż? Kto lubi cierpienie? Kto czerpie radość z bólu? To graniczy z chorobą psychiczną, którą nazywamy „masochizmem”.

To jakże trudne rozważanie o miłości do krzyża towarzyszy mojej duchowej medytacji przez większość życia. Dlatego zamiast wielu słów, dzielę się z Wami obrazem jednego z moich malowideł. Przedstawia ono scenę z filmu Jezus z Nazaretu. To Nikodem po tym, jak Jezus powiedział mu: „Jeśli się ktoś nie narodzi na nowo, nie może wejść do Królestwa Bożego.” Jestem niemal pewien, że każdy z nas byłby tak samo zdumiony słowami Pana, jak on. Związek między narodzeniem się na nowo a przyjęciem krzyży naszego życia powinien być oczywisty. A jednak jest to jedna z najtrudniejszych lekcji, jakich uczymy się w katechizmie. Jak umierać dla samych siebie? Jak odmawiać sobie wielu radości i błogosławieństw tego świata, aby otrzymać lepsze życie – udział w Bożym życiu? Jedna z lekcji, które zapamiętałem z dzieciństwa, pomaga mi to nieco zrozumieć. Pamiętam, jak nasze wspaniałe siostry zakonne uczyły: „Jezus mógł zbawić świat, przelewając tylko jedną kroplę krwi, ale wybrał mękę krzyża właśnie jako przykład.” A więc to nie intensywność ani brutalność cierpienia sprawiają, że śmierć Chrystusa jest zbawcza, lecz to, kto przyjmuje krzyż. Rodzice często cierpią z powodu grzechów swoich dzieci. Dzieci rzadko postrzegają takie cierpienie jako akt miłości. Twoja godność, czyli to kim jesteś, również uświęca twoje ofiary.

Fr Thomas Koys, M.A., S.T.L.
